The first stops in dividing the city into districts and having regular reports made on the condition of the streets, as suggested in THE Sun, have been taken by the L. A. W. Consulate. The idea will be carried out by having a regularly appointed consul in charge of each district and volunteers to assist him. A general call for this purpose has been made, although each district manager is expected to enlist volunifers within his own territory. The districts as laid out are arbitrary, and bear no relation to wards or election districts. W. R. Pitman will be in charge of the district, and temporarily, until some one else is appointed, of the Tenth district. Phese two comprise all of the annexed district beyond Zarlem. The Twelfth district, which ncludes the Boulevard, with all other drives on the west side between Fifty-ninth and Manhattan streets, will be in charge of George E. Scheffler. Maphattan street is about opposite 125th street. On the east side the corresponding stretch known as the Third district has been assigned to W. E. Bond. North of 125th street has been designated as the Fifth district and will be under the care of V. A. Seggerman. From Fifty-ninth street to Fourteenth street on both sides of the city is the Second district, and this has been turned over to Paul P. J. Donvan. The latter will also look out for the First district, temporarily, which includes all the terri-tory between the Battery and Fourteenth street. Volunteers desiring to aid in this work for good roads should send their names to the Streets and Highway Committee of the L. A. W. Con-sulate, 132 Nassau street, room 520. The committee has prepared the following letter of instruction for volunteers:

In asking your assistance, the committee begs t and you that the object of the consulate and its policy is to ask only for that which is reasonable and which is due to the public at large and not to bicyclists only. Your complaints should always be definite and not in general terms, and you should locate spots complained of, as nearly as possible, as thus: "Hole in asphalt pavement in front of No. 416 West Nineteenth street, caused by wear and tear." Number your reports serially, and sign your name and address, as well as your League number. Write legibly and mall your reports to your consul. If you find that reports are quickly followed by attention on the part of the authorities, or the con-trary, let us know of either fact. We do not expect that all inspectors throughout the city are equaliwhich are not attentive to their business. Experience has shown us that a kind word, calling attention di-rectly to the person in charge, is more effective than a complaint to his superior officer. City officials are but human beings, and if you will imagine yourself in their places you can best arrive at the right way of treating them. In the work we are engaged in we cannot have too much intelligent assistance. If you have friends living in any part of the city who will colunteer their aid to us, we will be giad to hear of it There is a rather poculiar condition of affairs existing at Brooklyn, owing to the fact of the police enforcing one ordinance and not another. The lamp ordinance nover has been in strict operation, and riders generally have rejoiced in the laxity that has permitted them to slip home after dark without being arrested. There is however, an ordinance against wheelmen car rying lighted Chinese lanterns in the parks and on the parkways, and this is enforced. The aw was passed in order to prevent horses from being frightened. A New York rider, greatly to his annoyance, learned all about these circumstances a few nights ago. He had been down to Coney Island, and, as has happened to others who have gone there, he tarried beyond the time when he should have started homeward. With nothing but the best intentions, he bought a paper lantern, and, lighting it, swung it over his handle bars. He got up the cycle path safely, but was stopped at the entrance to the park by an officer who gruffly told him to "put that lantern out." The "cop" proved to be good-natured enough not to make an arrest, and the situation was explained to the New Yorker. He promised to walk home on account of having no lamp of the kind prescribed, and he received opermission to proceed. The wheelman hopped on his wheel again as soon as he was beyond the official sight. on the parkways, and this is enforced. The

Regarding the suggestion of a prominent Brooklynite through This Sun concerning the rights of wheelmen to ride in front of the trolley cars and, if necessary, block them, some authorities express the oninion that cyclists would probably be judicially sustained in such action. Better than its effect in bringing out this opinion, though, the suggestion has resulted in the subject of a cycling path across the bridge being taken up by some new workers, who include prominent wheelmen and mechanical engineers, and a new pian has been formed to effect the

This week's figures of the L. A. W. membership, as given out by Secretary-Treasurer Bull, show 734 new applications and a total membership of 94,179. This is a net gain of 1,542 over last week. The New York State Division continues to keep at the head of the list, the membership being 25,405, while Pennsylvania, in second place, has 23,516.

Senier Consul Rosenfeld of the local consulate says that a path along Battery Park, from Bowling Green to the ferry, is practically assured. It will rep under the clevated structures, so as to be sheltered in case of rain, and a bedge of shrubbery will be placed on either side of it. It will be laid out by the Park Department and have a surface of cinders. It will probably be finished by May. This will spare cyclists the disagracable ride over the granite blocks to reach the Staten Island, South Ferry, and Bay Ridge boats.

cyclists the disagreeable ride over the granite blocks to reach the Staten Island, South Ferry, and Bay Ridge boats.

While it is hardly probable that tricycles will ever regain the popularity of a decade and a half ago, their use on American roads is quite a feature this year. The tricycle at one time was widely used in England, not only for pleasure riding, but for racing. Many of the best known English racers competed on the three-wheeled machines as well as on bicycles, and as much attention was paid to tricycle records as to those made on bicycles. Queen Victoria purchased a tricycle for her personal use, which gave to this type of vehicle a boom. At about the same time several American makers turned out tricycles, but the improvement of the safety developed so rapidly that in a couple of years the use of tricycles died away and they became almost obsolete. During the last few years there has been a growing return to favor of the latter, although there is practically only one manufacturer in this country who pays serious attention to their production, and he is located in this city. Some other firms put out special tricycles having two seats abreast, or regular tandem tricycles with a double drop frame to accommodate two women. The single tricycle as made to-day, in both diamond and drop frame to accommodate two women. The single tricycle as made to-day, in both diamond and drop frame to second the serious improvements in gearing and general construction, also push easier than the bleycles of the early ninetics. For timid persons and those who desire a certain amount of outdoor exercise and do not care about speed, the tricycle is a practical vehicle. It is safe, dignified, and offers a means for locomotion over country roads, that, while not as speedy or as exhibitating as a bleycle, is sufficient to be an enticement to persons of secontary habits to get out in the open. The combined sensations of skating and flying, claimed by bicycle riders, who do not for accidents. Pedalling on a tricycle is what a wh

Bo many riders in the Brooklyn districts travel around the outside of Prespect Park when on their way to the cycle path that the Park roads are almost descrited. It is safe to say that this is purely a habit, for the walk on the Fintbush avenue side offers no better riding than the roads within the Park. Those who have allowed this habit to hold them so that they saver go through the big pleasure ground mass many beauties that the outside route does not offer. The flower beds, the groves, and the seent of the pines are all lost on the outer side of the fence, and they are well worth going inside for Just now the pansies are in bloom, and their soothing tints go far toward diverting the attention of pedallers and making the way seem aborter. Soon the flower beds will glitter with crocuses, and the habit and outside riders will be throwing away a large installment of the pleasure in a trip to Concy Island. The park, after all, is the place where wheelmen belong, because the permission to use the sidewalks around it is a special indulgence, and if more riders want through the park on their trips to the boulevard they would relieve the over-

erowded condition outside and find pressenter

A new style of toe-clip has just appeared that is patterned almost exactly after the Mexican stirrup. The clip has a leather top that laces in the centre so that it can be made to fit any size of foot. It closes in to a point in front, and the base of it is of steel plates arranged in gridaron fashion with roughened surface. The clip saves the shoes from being scratched, and for that reason may find favor with those who like to wear patent leather footgest on a wheel. It is also dressy looking and easily caucht by the foot, which will recommend it to women.

Professional racing men are slow in applying to the Racing Board of the L. A. W. for registration numbers, and as a result rumors are in circulation that same of the cracks instead to revolt against the plan. Chairman Mott however, is not apprehensive of trouble. He feels that the riders will register in due time. The new rules of the Leasue require that professionals must register on or before May 1, in order to compete in L. A. W. races. Fallure to do this will be deemed a violation of the rules and will result in the suspension of riders from all League racks. The Racing Board anticipates that between 5,000 and 6,000 men will take out registration numbers. It has been reported that the racing and track associations would like to see the riders refuse to register in order to precipitate trouble with the League. A number of well-known officers of the racing organizations told a reporter of THE SUN yesterday that there was no truth in such reports. They also disavow all knowledge of any contemplated robellion on the part of the riders and declare that the latter will compete under L. A. W. auspices this season. They point to the fact that the contracts made by the racing organizations and the L. A. W. are harmonious.

BASEBALL YESTERDAY.

Rochesters Make a Good Fight Against the Pitcher Yerkes, a long-legged curve-thrower, who expects to own the Rochester baseball cranks this year, kept the heavy hitters of the New York team guessing for seven innings yes-terday, and convinced the 400 cranks who went to the Pole Grounds that Jovee's men are still behind in stick work. With the exception of Tiernan, Hartman, and Grady, the big Leaguers found it a difficult task to get in safe drives when they were needed, for the Rochesters backed their tall pitcher up in the liveliest kind of style. The visitors, however, found it even more difficult to hit the ball shut out but for a balloon ascension by the erratic Seymour in the last inning, when he lost his head and forced in Rochester's only run head because of the vigorous coaching of the head because of the vigorous coaching of the Rochester players, but also lost his temper, and actually wanted to fight. He turned first white, then red in the face, and scowled very much like the "Terrible Turk" when the latter pushed Roeber off the Garden wreatling platform. Seymour, so the players say, is suffering from a sense of importance that may get him into trouble some of these days.

Meckin and Itusic each worked two innings, and they showed that their arms are slowly getting into trim. The warm sun made them let out a trifle, much to the delight of the rooters, who are pinning their faith on the work expected from these hig fellows. Dobesy, who is still the most effective pitcher on the team, occupied the box for four innings, and his work was faulties. Lesier Gorman, once a pitcher on the New Yerk team, played well at third base for the visitors. Eagan made the play of the day by capturing Hartman's heavy drive, on which he caught McCreery at second in the sixth inning. The three runs scored by Joyce's men in the eighth inning were due to four clean hits and an error, but Yerkes was evidently exhausted from his hard work in the preceding innings when his curves were so harshly trifled with. President Brady was very much pleased with the playing of his team, and wired to Rochester the popular battle cry. "We'll win the prenant in a walk!"

Malcolm Graham, Jr., Secretary of the Harbor Hill Golf Club, has sent out a notice that there will be no more play on the links until after will be no more play on the links intil after May 1. The reason is that extensive alterations are to be made on the old course, while it is deemed best to give the new frounds, on which the work for nine holes has been completed, a rest to permit the turf to gain fresh life and strength in anticipation of the busy time to come and the tramping of a host of players. The entire eighteen-hole course will be ready by May 10.

the general handicap of April 2, between W. B. Rhett and W. M. Campbell, decided on Monday at the Crescent A. C. Links, Campbell came out winner, as the following cards show:

A foursome tournament has been added to the fixtures for the last Saturday in April. The aggregate handleap for each team must be twenty or over. Tom Bendelow hald a visit to the Crescents on Sunday and, with Mr. Thompson, played a foursome with Joe Lafag, the home professional, and W. M. Campbell. The latter pair were decidedly on their game and won by 6 up and 5 to play.

Charles R. Jensen, professional last year at the Scranton Country Club, who has been visiting the famous links abroad during the winter. returned on Saturday and has been engaged for the season by the Cummaquid Golf Club, Cape Cod, Mass.

A waterproof red golfing jacket, made of light texture on the mackintosh principle, has been invented in Scotland. It will protect the player from the effects of bad weather, but is so constructed that it will in no way interfere with the action of the arms. R. S. J., Richmond, Ind.-The playing length 352, 117, 404, 160, 285, 302, 418, 589, and 298 yards; total, 2,875 yards. The other distances you ask for are: Shinnecock Hills, 5,389; Whonton, 5,321, and Ardsley full course, 5,350. The Ardsley short course measures 2,525 yards. St. Andrew's, Scotland, measures 6,323 yards, and the estimated length of the Musselburgh, Scotland, links is 3,100 yards.

D. S. Hunter, the young Scotsman who is professional at Meadowbrook, is making some changes in the bunkers that will make the course more difficult by two or four strokes. The Meadowbrook Club will hold an open tournament in the fall, on some day that will not conflict with the tournaments already arranged, while the members' matches and handicaps will be of almost weekly occurrence until the end of the golfing season in November. The gap between real and ideal golf is forcibly brought out in the following quotation from London Golf of April 1:

Billiards. Frank Ives gave an excellent exhibition of the three-cushion billiard game last night at Maurice & John's billiard parlors. It was his first appearance in this city since his recent match in Chicago. His opponent was E. Ellery, who won the premier prize in the open tournsment that was completed early in the evening.

The rooms were crowded with devotees of the game and admirers of the contestants, who ap-plauded the varied shots in a liberal manner. Ives made several marvellous around-the-table shots during the course of the short exhibition. which clearly demonstrated that his hand had not lost its cunning nor his eye its accuracy in judging distances and angles. He, as was expected, completely outclassed his opponent and won by a score of 20 to 9.

Iyes won in the bank for lead, but retired on an easy round-the-table carrom with 2 points. Ellery failed to score, and Ives rolled up 4 more. Ellery made 2 in his next inning, and Ives rolled up 7 without apparent trouble. Ellery managed to pull together for 1, and Ives did the same on his next shot. Ellery missed, and the ivories rolled for 5 more for Ives. Ellery then braced up and made a run of 5 before he retired, after which Ives made the final point and won the game. not lost its cunning nor his eye its accuracy in CAMBRIDGE, April 12.-Golf at Harvard received a strong setback last week and the club links at Watertown have been closed for a week. Stoughton Bell, Secretary of the golf club, says that unless the club can make terms with the owner of the grounds a new place to play on will be selected at once. The property in view is that directly opposite to the Cambridge Golf Club links. The Harvard team is made up of Joseph H. Choate, Jr., M. S. Barger, I. T. Burden, Jr., W. Bayard Cutting, Jr., R. F. Tucker, Richardson, Wheelock, Stone, and Jenkins. A large number of men are trying for the team and have been playing for the last week on the Cambridge club links and the public links at Franklin Park.

Capt. Goodrich of the Harvard crew said this evening that the date for the New London race would be finally decided this week.

Ex-Capt. Cabot of the football team, who has been rowing with the senior crew for the last few weeks, has left the crew owing to a weak knee. Dubois will take his place. new place to play on will be selected at once

Special Cable Despotch to THE SUR. LONDON, April 12 .- Mr. Tattersall, President of the Cambridge University Chess Club, has informed the representative of THE SUN of his intention to cable to the Secretary of the Manhattan Chess Club to-morrow, on be-half of the Oxford and Cambridge clubs, that it is impossible that they play a match this year. Owing to the delay in the arrangements they are unable now to form a team. Mr. Tattersall said he hoped to receive a challenge from the American universities for a match during the Easter vacation next year; otherwise the Oxford and Cambridge clubs would challenge them.

Wrestling.

An unusually large crowd saw the preliminary bouts for the wrestling championship of the New York A. C. in the club's gymnasium last night. Three classes were decided, namely: The 125-pound (special weight), 135-pound (lightweight), and 145-pound (welterweight), The heavyweight class will be contested at the finals, which occur to morrow night. Owing to the fact that there were no entries in the middleweight class it was abandoned this year.

The wrestling class at the club has increased threefold since the organization moved to its present abode, and is one of the largest aththreefold since the organization moved to its prosent abode, and is one of the largest athletic departments in the entire winged-foot in stitution. Instructor Hugh Leonard has got to gether a clever and scientific batch of pupila, who are both muscular and active. Last night the scholars had a good opportunity to display their skill.

In the 125-pound division Richard Stevens, the old-time erack tennis player, met T. G. McGirr. Stevens threw McGirr with a neck hold after 6 minutes 48 seconds. Dr. W. W. Giffillan proved to be a very tough customer for Samuel Scoville, Jr., in the 135-pound class. Scoville is looked upon as a splondid wrestler, but Giffillan gave him a hard battle. Scovilledid the best work though and received the ducision in thirteen minutes. A. A. Manrara entered the 135-pound and 145-pound class, and alternated with a victory and a defeat. The conditions were catchas-catch-can style, with the bouts limited to ten minutes. In the Giffillan-Scoville bout Referee Leonard called an extra three minutes, with a rest of one minute. After the contests were decided Leonard gave an exhibition. Summary: 125-Pound Class-Richard Stevens threw T. G. McGirr in 5 minutes 48 seconds.

135-Pound Class-W. B. De Havon threw A. A. Manrara in 4 minutes, 10 seconds: Dr. W. Giffillan was beaten by Samuel Scoville, Jr., in 13 minutes. 145-Pound Class-F. L. Cooper beat Cecil Lyon in 10 minutes; A. A. Manrara threw J. C. Converse in 7 minutes.

William H. Robertson has decided to pull off the world's championship 100-yard professional foot race this year. It is the intention to reduce the entrance fee from $100 to $50. This will undoubtedly bring fee from $100 to $5.0. This will undoubtedly bring out a larger number of contestants than ever before, Healdes the entrance money for the winners there will be $200 added and a correction of the gate receipts. It is thought that however, the "Flying Scotte man," and Harper, the greatest of the English runners, will come over and take a try against the Americans. The event will take place during September, probably in the East.
